This Month's Character Theme: Responsibility

This month is all about charting your course for success in the new school year! If you think about it, responsibility is the foundation of good character. We hope you'll join us for a live lesson to discuss this critical skill. We'll have lots of fun learning and laughing together!

Good to Know

The start of the school year is a great time to remember the responsibilities of the home educator. Specifically, keeping records and information that may be used in your portfolio/annual evaluation. Each district has their own set of requirements so please check to be sure you are in compliance.

Please visit our website! It's filled with lots of useful information. Click here.
